

Creative Children's Center's Class Offerings 2007 -2008

Our Programs: CCC's schedule is organized by class name, child's age, class time and cost. Our multi-age Preschool and Kindergarten classrooms register an equal number of each age assuring a balanced classroom. Our classes allow older students to take leadership roles, while the younger children benefit from the natural security mixed-age grouping provides. Children are able to reach their potential based on their individual stage of development regardless of age. We believe that a creative environment, dedicated teachers and parental involvement are the keys to our success. Parents may combine T/TH and M/W/F preschool classes for a five-day option.

Our Special Staff: Creative Children's Center is proud to have a superb teaching staff. Each member of our professional teaching team has a college degree in Early Childhood Education or a related field. Years of classroom teaching round out their experiences, creating a staff that loves working together for the betterment of the child. Under the leadership of our Director Lucy Chaille, the team meets often to access the program and meet professional standards. When selecting a class, keep in mind that all the teachers are exceptionally qualified and will do their very best to meet your child's needs socially, emotionally and academically each and every day.

Parent Help vs. Non-Help & How often one is required to parent help:

CCC operates as a parent/child participation school. However, we understand that not all parents can help in the classroom. Therefore we offer two options. Parents may select to work as parent helpers and receive a reduced tuition, or pay the regular tuition if unable to help. How many times a parent is required to help monthly is established by the age of the children and how often the class meets. The difference in tuition prices is determined by the cost of hiring additional teaching support for the classes as needed to replace non-helpers. This ensures a strong adult to child ratio in each class.
